CASE STUDY

Background

Established in 1999, HL Plant based in Falkirk is a family business with family values, always exceeding customer expectations in the provision of high-quality safety decking and soft-landing systems. They have their own transport and logistics meaning they can supply G-DECK as well as other products across Scotland.

Lloyd Hutchison the Managing Director of HL Plant approached LDS at the very start regarding becoming the Scotland business partner as he was interested in working with the G-DECK system and having worked for many years with another metal system saw G-DECK as a safer and better proposition.

“We went through a period of migration of changing to the G-DECK system, but once our clients saw the system and the huge benefits of it, changing them across was pretty painless”.

The Solution from G-DECK

Based on HL Plant's customer-base and business model, they saw an opportunity to work with LDS Hire & Sales Limited to broaden their own hire capabilities and improve safety and time management on Scottish construction sites.

The company now has more than 35,000m² of our G-DECK and G-DECK Lite systems, which it offers on a hire-only or hire-and-install basis.

The HL Plant team was trained in installation of the system by our own team so we know their customers can be confident of a robust and safe installation every time.
